

USE VARIANCE APPLICATION PROCEDURE GUIDELINES
Town of Lake Pleasant

Please read and complete the enclosed application for use variance with as much detail as possible. All applications must be accompanied by detailed diagrams showing lot size, adjoining roads, driveways, the location and dimensions of all buildings including building heights and the distance of all buildings from all lot boundaries.

It is the sole responsibility of the applicant to provide the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) with one original and (5) copies of the application and all necessary information and documentation concerning this application. The ZBA will make its determination solely on the basis of the information and material that it is provided; therefore, the burden of proof is on the applicant to prove the necessity of the request.

There is a $50.00 filing fee required with the submission of each application. This fee is not refundable once presented to the ZBA and shall not be used to cover any other fee, permit, etc. Any decision on any variance shall expire if the applicant fails to obtain any necessary permit or comply with the conditions of such permit within 6 months from the date of authorization thereof. Before work is started, please obtain a permit from the Code Enforcement Office.

Please be advised that construction must comply with all regulations of the New York State Uniform Fire Prevention and Building Code.

Example of items that may be enclosed in support of the application:

- (a) Renovation documents
- (b) Business proposal (if applicable)
- (c) Photos
- (d) Survey map of property
- (e) Neighborhood letter(s) of support
- (f) Map/photos/layout of neighborhood

USE VARIANCE: A use variance is a variance granted by the ZBA, if granted, allows the property owner to use the property in a certain way even though the desired use is otherwise prohibited in the zoning district. A use variance may be granted upon a demonstration of unnecessary hardship to the property owner in the use of the land.

3. STANDARDS: Please make sure to answer all questions in detail. The Zoning Board of Appeals will consider the answers to all questions:

(a) the applicant will be deprived of use or benefit from the property unless it can be used for the purpose requested, which deprivation must be established by competent evidence. Competent financial evidence may include records or documents of: the amount paid for the property, the present values of the property, the expenses attributable to the maintenance, the amount of taxes on the property, income from the property, etc.;

(b) the hardship created is unique and does not apply to a substantial portion of the district or neighborhood. To determine whether the conditions that make an applicant's land difficult to use are unique, the ZBA may, for example, consider proximity to a major highway or physical conditions of the site itself, such as steep slopes or wetlands;

(c) the requested variance would not alter the essential character of the neighborhood. For example, the establishment of a commercial use that generated a lot of traffic or excessive noise could disrupt a residential area;

(d) the hardship is not self-created. An example of a hardship that has been created by the applicant's own actions may be where the applicant purchases residentially zoned land for a very high price, with the thought of subsequently obtaining a variance to use the land commercially. In this case, the applicant created the hardship by paying an inflated amount for the land and should not be granted a variance;

(e) the variance is the minimum necessary to grant relief from the hardship. The ZBA may grant the least relief, or smallest variance, necessary to allow the applicant a reasonable return on the property;

(f) the variance will preserve and protect the character of the neighborhood and the health, safety and welfare of the community. The neighborhood should not be disrupted by the proposed use, even if the applicant proved unnecessary hardship.

4. SELF-CREATED HARDSHIP: The ZBA may not grant a use variance to relieve a hardship created by the applicant, such as purchase of land with actual or constructive (should have known-presumed to know the law) knowledge that the desired use is prohibited by the zoning ordinance, even if the landowner does not have actual knowledge of the applicable provisions of the ordinance prohibiting the desired use.

The applicant should keep in mind that a use variance, if granted, runs with the land; in other words, the variance is granted to benefit the use of the property regardless of who owns the property. The variance is not granted for the personal benefit of the property owner; rather, it will continue to benefit the property for subsequent owners of the property as well.
